As the rain drizzles outside in winter you won't even notice, with the underfloor heating in the bathroom and the sheer amount of light that fills the home. And as the sun beams overhead in summer you will adore the polished timber floors that bring a sense of warmth without extra heat.

Yet it's not just the villa itself you'll love. With the addition of your own single lock up garage, built to perfectly complement the villa, plus the rear garden space, this home truly has everything you need to live a stylish and calming lifestyle.

If it's not for your own lifestyle but for visitors to Berry instead, the villa provides a complete escape – and is already incredibly popular as a weekender. Although you may find it hard to share!
